New Time for Morning Club Meetings!

Beginning July 11th, club meetings will begin at 7:00am. That is right; everyone gets 15 minutes more sleep-in time. Actually the change in meeting time is a new member recruitment tool. There are a number of organizations that meet at 7:00am. Having our meetings start at 7:00am versus saying we begin at 6:45am makes a significant psychological impact with potential new members. I think that our current members may not mind the later start time either!

Members Learn About CIBA

Bob Baird, owner of The Book Bin and past president of the Corvallis Independent Business Alliance (CIBA) was our speaker last week.

CIBA is composed of over 90 local, independent business owners who use networking, political advocacy and education to encourage support of local businesses and awareness of the value of patronizing local businesses.

The organization was established in 2002 and is registered in the state as a non-profit organization. It is run by volunteers and an elected board of directors.

CIBA also provides mentoring to persons opening small businesses within the city.

Anyone wanting more information about CIBA can log onto their web site, www.corvallisiba.org

"Many people do not know that I was diagnosed with polio when I was 9 years old. I think the fact that I'm a survivor has really heightened my awareness and impacted the choices I've made. I know what it is like for these children to be stigmatized."

- Mia Farrow

Ms Farrow received a Paul Harris Fellow Recognition from Rotary District 7230 at the New York City conference in April 2006.

An Entertaining Meeting
